Price tags ending in 90 won or 900 won rule stores. They are everywhere. Studies have shown that products with prices that end with 90 won or 900 won sell 8% more than those that end with a round number. Ever wonder why?

According to research, people tend to round the number 9,900 down to 9,000. They don't round 9,900 up to 10,000 won. In other words, people feel that 9,900 is closer to 9,000, not to 10,000. Researchers call this the left-digit effect. They say that since humans read from left to right, the mind seems to focus on the first digit: 9. For example, when a price changes from 30,000 won to 29,900 won, the effect is much greater than we think. The actual difference is only 100 won. but it creates the illusion that the difference is 10,000 won.

※ [1-6] Reread the passage and do the activities below

1. Match the words below to the definitions.

● price tag      round number      focus on      illusion

- 1) _____ : making a number simpler but keeping its value close to what it was
- 2) _____ : something that is not really what it seems to be
- 3) _____ : a piece of paper attached to a product that shows the amount a product costs
- 4) _____ : to give most of your attention to someone or something

2. Write down your own definition of the left digit effect and discuss it with your partners.

⇒ I think the left-digit effect is _____

3. How do people perceive the prices on the tags?

5. Interview your two group members with following questions

	Student A: _____	Student B: _____
1. What is it on sale?
2. Did you use the left digit effect? If yes, how much is it?
3. How would people perceive the price according to the passage?
4. Do you think that customers would buy your product?

6. Reread and summarize the passage with your partners.

The Magic Number 9

Price tags usually ends _____.

Because the products with that prices sell _____.

People tend to read _____.

They focus on _____.

That creates the illusion _____.

Girls chat more than boys. Women actually speak about 20,000 words each day while men speak just 7,000. Women talk about their problems and feelings more than men. What causes these differences between sexes?

According to Dr. Brizendine, the author of The Female Brain, every brain begins as a female brain, and for boys, it only becomes male eight weeks after pregnancy. At that time, the communicative areas of the boys' brains become smaller, and the areas for aggression and sex get bigger. After this change, males and females take different paths in their development. This can be seen from a young age. In groups, for example, girls tend to act in harmony while boys compete or argue with each other. Later on in life, males often become silent when they are under stress. But females talk far more than usual in the same situations.

※ [1-4] Reread the passage and do the activities below

1. Match the words below to the definitions.

● pregnancy      development      aggression      in harmony

- 1) _____ : when a woman is having a baby
- 2) _____ : violent and attacking behavior.
- 3) _____ : the process of growing
- 4) _____ : peacefully rather than fighting or arguing.

2. Fill in the table from the word bank below to compare female with male.
